ACCESSIBILITY OF DAYLIGHT PROGRAMS

The following information helps you understand the accessibility of Daylight's Impact Philanthropy Advisor Certification (IPA) and Certificate programs.

What to expect:

- The course content is in English and consists mostly of reading text, charts, and other graphics. The materials are written for people with high reading proficiency.
- The course content is in an online system called Circle.so. The system meets Level AA of Web Content Accessibility Guidelines 2.2. You will create a free log-in account to access the course content.

What you will need:

- Desktop computer, laptop, or tablet
- Internet access and a web browser
- Software such as Acrobat Reader to read PDF files
- Camera (IPA)
- Microphone (IPA)
- Zoom app (IPA)

Other features:

- Automatic transcriptions or captioning will be available for videos, recordings, and live Zoom meetings for IPA cohorts.
- Participation can be through use of the chat feature, raise hand function, Q & A, or coming off mute and speaking on Zoom.

For IPA Cohort Discussions:

- Between 12 and 15 other people will be in the Zoom meetings with you.
- You will be asked to have your camera on when speaking and actively participate in group conversations.
- The facilitators are trained to do their best to support your learning and participation.

If you have questions or wish to speak with someone about accommodations or concerns, please email us at learn@daylightadvisors.com before registering.
