Revealing a greater impact

Greetings from Daylight!

We launched our inaugural Impact Philanthropy Advisor program this week! We onboarded 70 learners in five cohorts. But don't worry if you missed the October session; we are enrolling for January! The January cohort schedule offers seven flexible cohort options to fit your needs. If you want to maximize your remaining professional development budget, this is the perfect opportunity! Seats are filling up fast, so secure your spot to avoid missing out on this valuable learning experience.

Daylight has a podcast! Illuminate Philanthropy is designed by and for advisors dedicated to exploring the latest news and events in philanthropy and social impact. Our inaugural series explores Adapting to the 8 Trends in Philanthropic Advising. Each episode features a key trend, including the Changing Client Base, Evolving Definitions of Philanthropy, and Evolving Impact Vehicles. Tune in as we shine a light on the power of philanthropy and how advisors can drive impactful change.

We heard you wanted shorter, specific, and self-paced programs. So, we're working hard to develop new certificate programs in Q4 and launching them in early 2025. Registrations will open in November. Stay tuned for more details!

As always, we appreciate your support and partnership. Please say hello if you see us at an event!

Partnership to Enhance Professional Development

Daylight and Advisors in Philanthropy \(AIP\) are working together to offer the Impact Philanthropy Advisor certification to leading advisors inspired to help clients effectively direct their philanthropic resources consistent with their deepest values. This partnership offers AIP members an exclusive discount to participate in Daylight's IPA program. Let us know if you'd like to learn more!

Meet the Impact Philanthropy Advisor 2024 Facilitators

Industry practitioners built IPA for industry practitioners like you. We take pride in delivering content that is relevant, accessible, and applicable to your work. Six industry leaders with diverse backgrounds and experiences lead our October 2024 cohorts. They come from community and corporate foundations, family dynamics and family enterprise coaching, foreign service, philanthropic advising, and more.
